12 stones

my life

I find myself in question again

And I doubt this Love you've given to me

I hope you understand when I say

I need this time to myself

You speak your mind to me again

You force your words so deep within

You try to tell me how to live

But it's my life

I know your open arms too well

Cause I've lost myself there many times before

I need to slowly fall away

Far from the grip you have on me

You speak your mind to me again

You force your words so deep within

You try to tell me how to live

But it's my life

I find these words were never true

I've lost all my respect for you

I need to find my own way

It's my life

I gotta get away

One step away

I gotta get away

Just one step away

I gotta away you're pushing me away

I gotta get away

Well I'm gone
