Winter in July

I stay away, try not to call but

Something keeps drawing me in

Keep thinking back

To what we had

Will we ever have this time again

So many changes

It all feels so strange

So cold

I guess this is for real

That's why it feels like I'm frozen

Winter in July

There's no sun in the sky

Just like ice, I'm fallen and broken

Winter in July

I lie awake

Counting seconds

Off the clock to halt my tears

In this crowded room

I'm all alone

I watch the door like you were here

So many answers that I wanna know

I'm so torn

I guess this is for real

That's why it feels like I'm frozen

Winter in July

There's no sun in the sky

Just like ice, I'm fallen and broken

Winter in July

Hard to find the words to make it real

To express the way you make me feel

I could've sworn I said I didn't need you

But now

I finally woken up I realise

I was really pushing you aside

And you know I'm not half as strong as I made out

I guess this is for real

That's why it feels like I'm frozen

Winter in July

There's no sun in the sky

Just like ice, I'm fallen and broken

Winter in July

I know this is for real

That's why it feels like I'm frozen

Winter in July
